Black Theatre Workshop
432 – 3680 rue Jeanne-Mance
Montréal, QC H2X 2K5
CANADA

It is with great pleasure that I extend my warmest congratulations to Black Theatre Workshop on the occasion of its 35th Annual Vision Celebration Gala.

The contributions of Black Theatre Workshop, now in its 50th season, cannot be understated. With its mission of creating greater cross-cultural understanding, its dedication to showcasing the works of Black and diasporic communities, and its commitment to mentoring the next generation of Black artists, the work that Black Theatre Workshop does is nothing short of inspiring.

Theatre is something that is very important to me given my sister's work as an actress, writer, and director, and I deeply believe that artists and creatives play a pivotal role in speaking to the challenges of our time and serving as catalysts for action.

It is an honour to be celebrating all that Black Theatre Workshop has accomplished and continues to accomplish on the cusp of Black History Month. I would like to extend my heartfelt congratulations to tonight's award winners, and to each and every person who makes this work possible.
